1962 instrumental by Quincy Jones For the song by Bernard "Pretty" Purdie, see Soul Drums. "Soul Bossa Nova" Song by Quincy Jones from the album Big Band Bossa Nova Released 1962 Recorded September 7, 1962; A & R Studios, New York City [1] Genre Swing, jazz, samba, bossa nova Length 2:50 Songwriter(s) Quincy Jones Producer(s) Quincy Jones "Soul Bossa Nova" is a popular instrumental, composed and first performed by musician and record producer Quincy Jones. It appeared on his 1962 Big Band Bossa Nova album on Mercury Records.[2] Jones said that it took him twenty minutes to compose the piece,[3] which features prominently a cuica (responsible for the distinctive "laughing" in the first bars). Roland Kirk was the flute soloist, Lalo Schifrin was the pianist, Chris White was the bassist, Rudy Collins was the drummer, and Jerome Richardson was the alto flutist.[1] The album liner notes do not specify the brass players. Media use The song is used in the films The Fawnbroker and Take the Money and Run. The theme was used in a long-running Canadian television game show, Definition.[4] Canadian hip hop group Dream Warriors sampled the title heavily for their popular track "My Definition of a Boombastic Jazz Style", in their debut album And Now the Legacy Begins in 1991.[5] Canadian comedian Mike Myers grew up watching Definition, and as a homage to his childhood used the title as the theme for his James Bond parody film series Austin Powers.[2] It was used as a theme for the 1998 FIFA World Cup.[6] It was sampled by Ludacris for his Austin Powers-themed single, "Number One Spot".[5] In 2014, Jones executive produced Canadian jazz singer Nikki Yanofsky's album Little Secret, which featured a song entitled "Something New". The song interpolated melodic references to "Soul Bossa Nova".[7] The song is used as the menu music of the 2007 Gameloft Game, Las Vegas Nights: Temptations in The City [8] It was used as an act of humour magic show on America's Got Talent and Britain's Got Talent. A version of the song was used as title theme in the German comedy show Was guckst du?!. In 2022 Canadian cellular provider Telus used the music for a TV commercial.
